

Quaker United Nations Office (QUNO)

The Quaker United Nations Office (QUNO) serves as a Quaker presence at the United Nations (UN), representing Friends' concerns at the international level, with offices at UN headquarters in New York, as well as in Geneva.

QUNO has been able to participate in the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC) meetings with the help of QEW's accreditation. You can read about QUNO's involvement at COP 18 in Doha by clicking the article link on the right side of this page.
